

will soon be AdventHealth

dr. phillips center

A partnership to explore, integrate and foster the ability of performing arts to further health, well-being and quality of life.

Are you a Person with Memory Loss or the Primary Caregiver of a Person with Memory Loss ?

If so, you could be part of a groundbreaking research study. This study will provide performing arts instruction to caregivers and care recipients. This fun and interactive class will meet once a week for eight weeks at the Florida Hospital School of Arts located at the Dr. Phillips Center for the Performing Arts - 155 E. Anderson Street, Orlando, FL 32801.

WHO IS ELIGIBLE FOR THIS STUDY?

- Caregiver must be the unpaid and primary caregiver, and 18 years of age or older.
- The caregiver and care recipient must live in the community (not in a nursing or rehabilitation facility).
- Care recipient must be 65 years of age or older.
- The care recipient and the caregiver must be available to participate in classes, which are enrolling now. Study and analysis are expected to end December 2019.

DURING THE EIGHT-WEEK STUDY CARE PARTNERS WILL:

- Work with the performing arts to build caregiver resilience and reduce caregiver stress.

To learn more about this study and to find out if it is a good fit for you, please call Pam Jennelle at 407-303-7365, or visit CaregiverStudy.com.

